Dear Parents/Carers

The homework project for our latest topic, 'Deliciously Dahl' is to design and make a snack based on your child's favourite story character. The suggestions we have given for the snack include biscuits, cakes or any form of edible treat. We will be teaching the children all the necessary skills to become expert chefs, with lessons covering a range of practical measuring and reading scales.

The deadline for the project is the last day before the half term break, Friday 25th May, which coincides with British Day and the school's Summer Fayre, and also runs alongside the 'Give a Kid a Quid' enterprise challenge. As we appreciate this is a lot to manage, we are suggesting that your child may want to design and make their snack as their enterprise project.

Year Two will have their own stand at the Summer Fayre, where we will be selling the products made by the whole class, and we are offering the opportunity for your child's homework project to be displayed and sold at the Year Two stand. If any parents would like to support the year group on the stand, please speak to your child's class teacher.

This is not, however, obligatory, and we will of course allow children to bring their design and photos to demonstrate their finished homework project (rather than the actual snack) to share with the class in week beginning Monday 21st May.

Please complete the form below to let us know if you would like to join us at the Summer Fayre.

Thank you for your continued support,

Miss Pullen
